Vertical column of characters on the right side of the page, possibly a list or index.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a medieval manuscript. The text is arranged in approximately 15 horizontal lines. The script is dense and difficult to decipher due to its cursive nature and the high contrast of the scan. The text appears to be a list or a series of entries, possibly related to a calendar or a record book. The lines are roughly as follows:

- Line 1: [Illegible]
- Line 2: [Illegible]

Handwritten text at the bottom left corner.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a medieval manuscript. The text is arranged in several lines, with some lines starting with a large initial letter. The script is dense and difficult to decipher due to its cursive nature and the presence of some ink bleed-through or fading. There are several asterisks (*) on the left margin, possibly indicating corrections or specific points of interest.

A vertical column of text on the right side of the page, written in a similar cursive script. It appears to be a marginal note or a separate entry, possibly related to the main text. The characters are somewhat stylized and consistent in their form throughout the column.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a medieval manuscript. The text is arranged in approximately 15 horizontal lines. The first line is heavily obscured by a large black ink blot. The remaining lines contain dense, flowing script. There are several asterisks (*) on the left margin, and some lines appear to be decorated or marked with small symbols. The overall appearance is that of an old, possibly damaged, document.

Vertical text on the right side of the page, consisting of a single column of characters. These characters appear to be a form of shorthand or a specific dialect of a medieval script, possibly related to the main text. The characters are arranged vertically, one per line, and are relatively uniform in size and style.
