1787

The first thing I did was to go to the office and see what was going on.
 I found everything in a state of confusion. The books were not in order, and the papers were scattered all over the place.
 I spent some time in the morning looking over the accounts and finding out what was due to whom. I also wrote a few letters to the merchants and bankers.
 In the afternoon I went to the bank and saw the cashier. He told me that the money was all right, but that the interest was not paid for some time.
 I went home and wrote a letter to the bank saying that I would pay the interest as soon as I could. I also wrote a letter to the merchants saying that I would pay them as soon as I could.
 The next day I went to the office and found that everything was in a better state of order. I spent the day in the office
 looking over the accounts and writing letters. I also went to the bank and saw the cashier. He told me that the money
 was all right, but that the interest
 was not paid for some time. I went
